Championship Game Saturday

Institute Holds Public Attention

INDUSTRIAL HEADS AND FOREMEN HOLD FAMILY FEAST

Will Play Final Game in Monessen

Coach S. S. Townsend with a rabbit's foot in his left hip picket traveled to Pittsburgh last evening to flip a coin to decide the place for staging the championship football contest between his protoges and the Rochester High school. Coach Grimm of Rochester failed to take any lucky stones or follow the signs of the moon and as a result when the coin fell, Coach Townsend was declared the lucky person and so the scholastic gridiron classic of the season will be played at Page Park Saturday afternoon of this week with the Monessen and Rochester High school teams battling for the championship of the W. P. I. A. L. and a cup to be donated by a well known eastern school.

The Alumni of a well known school got their heads together when it was announced that the two schools would meet to decide the best team in the league and they voted that in view of the fact that the Syracuse committee had already awarded the cup to be given to the best team that their school would furnish a cup for the real champions.

The game will be played under the rules of the W. P. I. A. L. and the Rochester team will be given a suitable guarantee for their appearance here. The officials decided upon last evening were Dan Daugherty, Washington & Jefferson, referee; F. J. Crolius, Dartmouth, referee; and A. A. McFarland, Washington & Jefferson, head linesman.

The game will be called promptly at 2:30 and to the winner will go the honor of being the best team in the W. P. I. A. L., as these two teams are the only members of the league who have won every game played this year. The expense of the game including the officials, the transportation and guarantee of the visiting team will amount to $750 and on this account it will be necessary to charge $1.00 admission with a fifty cent admission for students. The capacity of the big park will no doubt be packed as this will be the only football game in the upper Monongahela valley and all schools in this valley will turn out to boost the locals in order that the honors may remain here while the visitors will bring hundreds of fans from the Beaver valley. It certainly will be some game to witness with two undefeated teams during the season, fighting for the highest honors that can be awarded a scholastic team in Western Pennsylvania.

The Wizard

Officials of Page Plant Surprised

A testimonial dinner was tendered General Superintendent Geo. A. Paff and J. A. Durfee, manager of the works of the Page Steel & Wire Co., by foremen of the departments of the plant, last night in Moose Temple. About sixty-five guests were present to pay their respects to the honor guests. A plate dinner was served by that expert caterer, Mr. Pierce C. Johnson, which was enjoyed by everyone. After the menu had been disposed of, Mr. Perry Watkins called for order and introduced J. J. Cushing, foreman of the rod mill, who acted as toastmaster.

He introduced as the first speaker, Mr. William Morris, vice president of the American Chain company, which industry is the present owner of the Page interests. Mr. Morris is a very earnest, eloquent and pointed speaker and he referred to the body of men present as "the family" and the occasion the family gathering. He spoke of the great stress to which industry had been subjected during the past three years, and called attention to the changed conditions that now face business and the country, and that to get the best results it is necessary to have greater cooperation. He spoke very complimentary of the guests of honor and their ability to make the Page company able to compete in world markets.

J. Howard Kelly spoke of his association with the company and his very cordial and pleasant relations with both Messrs. Paff and Durfee. Messrs. L. N. Ely, C. L. Schuck and H. R. Dore spoke for the town and argued for a closer relationship between industry and town. Mr. Schuck paid a tribute to Mr. Sattley, who, for many years was the chief local official of the company and whose civic pride and unstinted effort brought him to the front as a public man and industrial head and he hoped that this record might be emulated by others connected with the plant here.

W. O. Williams sang a song to the delight of all. Jack Keefer was present and introduced a variety of repertoire in his usual entertaining manner. Luke Barnett, of Pittsburgh was the out of town talent, who entertained with stories and repartee. He furnished the interact program with a variety of dialect that was first introduced when he assisted as a waiter, objecting to courtesies from the guests and finally being introduced by the toastmaster as the comedian of the evening.

Messrs. Paff and Durfee both responded with remarks of appreciation for the pleasant surprise that had been tendered them by the foremen of the mill. Mr. Paff announced that the past month had been a record of achievement for the plant in many departments and that others would have shared in the honor had there not been an unfortunate breakdown. He was proud however, to speak of the past and hoped that the future would be productive of still greater achievement.

Mr. Durfee reiterated this optimism and in response to the editorial friends present, he spoke of his love for the town and his desire to sojourn where he could be in company with the men with whom he is associated in the daily walks of life.

The gathering was a thoroughly enjoyable one and the fellowship that manifested itself not only speaks well for the Page Steel and Wire company, but for the town as well. At 9:30 the affair was declared at an end and all departed, wishing the honor guests many happy returns. Mr. E. C. Sattley of Pittsburgh and Mr. William Morris were the only out of town officials present.

To Sell Toys

The Manual Training department at the Iowa school building announces that the annual toy sale will start two weeks preceeding Christmas and a fine assortment of toys will be offered the public. They will be the handiwork of the pupils up to and including the sixth grade and will include doll furniture for the girls and other handsome and ornamental designs. The boys will have a variety of automobile accessories and other useful and ornamental designs to select from. The toys will be specially priced and will be sold in order to obtain funds with which to further equip the department.

This work is in charge of Miss Dorothy Park who has made a wonderful success of it. She takes great interest in showing people the work of the pupils in this department and in reality it is a wonderful institution. Those who are interested, whether they desire to purchase toys or not, will be made welcome if they should feel sufficiently interested to call.

Louis Sklov, a local lad, who enlisted in the United States army several weeks ago has, according to word received here secured an appointment at West Point.

Local Couple Wed

A wedding of local interest took place Wednesday of last week when George A. Given and Miss Mira Miner, both of this city, were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Wilson Reid, pastor of the United Presbyterian church. The wedding was a quiet affair and took place at the home of the groom, 918 Knox avenue, where the couple have gone to housekeeping. Mr. Given is employed as an engineer at the Pittsburgh Steel company.

School House Afire

Fayette City was given a school fire scare Monday morning when word was passed about that an attempt had been made to destroy the public school building on the hill of the little town. Investigation, however, proved that the fire was caused by an overheated stove and was extinguished with very little damage. The teacher, on discovering the smoke issuing from the roof of the building, marched the pupils from the room and a passerby, with several buckets of water extinguished the flames.

Lady Maccabees Hold Marathon Rally Friday

Monessen Review No. 184, Woman's Beneficial Association of the Maccabees is planning for a great time on Friday, Dec. 3rd, when the members will entertain all the Reviews in the Valley at a Marathon Rally. The "Lady Maccabees," as they are familiarly known, is the greatest insurance association in the world for women only. Their membership in Pennsylvania alone was over 24,000 at the beginning of July. They have a membership of 220,000 in the United States, Alaska, Cuba, Canada, Hawaii and the Philippines.

They are engaged in a Marathon Race now, lasting until January 1, 1923. All members of the Association securing membership to the amount of $40,000.00 insurance from July 1, 1919 to that time secures a free trip to the Pacific coast. This is the greatest offer ever given by any insurance company. Monessen already has several ladies with the trip nearly won.

The large newly decorated Odd Fellow's hall has been secured for Friday afternoon and evening, and the ladies are already decorating it in the Marathon Colors of the Association, yellow and brown. Yellow chrysanthemums will form the principal decoration. The Ladies Aid of the Christian church will serve one of their famous hot dinners at 6:30 p. m. Price, 75c per plate.

At 7 o'clock sharp the evening meeting begins and there will be a large class initiation with candidates from Pittsburgh and as far as Uniontown. Team will also be present from drills, and all sorts of stunts in the evening. In the afternoon all athletic work will be perfectly given and free music will be given all afternoon and evening.

The initiation will be in charge of District Deputy Mrs. Mary T. Hardwick, of Uniontown. Other distinguished guests will be Past Supreme Commander Mrs. Harriet M. Ellsworth, Corry, Pa.; Miss Nellie E. Lounsbury and sister, of Warren, Pa. Miss Lounsbury is the State Commander of Pennsylvania. All members are cordially invited and all candidates who have been at one time July 15.

INTEREST CENTERS IN VARIETY PROGRAM OF TEACHERS' INSTITUTE NOW IN SESSION

The second day of the Teachers' Institute was continued under the same instructors, Miss McKenzie, Dr. Eisenberg and Supt. Graham, with the addition of Dr. Albert Lindsay Rowland, Director of the Teachers Bureau, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg.

Supt. Graham, in the meeting of High school and Junior High school teachers, continued his instruction in "School Discipline," both in his morning and afternoon talks. He said classes which needed direct, as opposed to indirect control were (1) the impudently (2) the actually (3) the aggressively disorderly. Some types of children to be dealt with were the over zealous, the restless, the careless, the mischievous, the giggling girl, the egotist, and the rebellious. He believed that skillful reproof, usually in private, was the best method of direct control. The teacher should administer her own punishment, except in major cases, and social punishment should be used whenever possible.

Sometimes untrue statements were useful; sometimes a counter attraction or a change in the child's home or school environment might be employed. Punishment should be administered as soon as possible after the offense and should fit the offense whenever possible. In summing up his work, Supt. Graham said that a teacher cannot give instruction unless he has his class under control. Indirect control, depending upon the personality and skill of the teacher is the best end, but some situations demand instant, vigorous and direct action.

In the Intermediate Department Dr. Eisenberg continued his discussion of "The Periods of Development." He says the problem is that of not always the fault of the child that he is unable to do the work in the classroom, that idleness and inferiority are very often the cause of inability and lack of attention in the school room. The teacher should realize the evil also the influence of instincts in the life of the child. Some instincts should be fostered, some crushed and others directed to different paths. As examples, he used the instinct of quickness which should be crushed, the play instinct, the purpose of which is to prepare for the useful things of later life, and which should be fostered, and the fighting instinct. Too many teachers think the latter should be crushed. On the other hand, it should not be fostered, but directed into different paths, taking care to teach the pupils to fight squarely, and to prevent the development of "the bully." Do this and this fighting instinct can be transformed into moral quality and used to overcome difficulties in later life.

Primary Section—Forenoon

Miss McKenzie opened the session by stating that a project is a complete life unit, it is learning by experience. The outside world blames the teacher for being vague and theoretical; teaching by projects brings the real and practical into school life. A project begins with a situation which calls forth a purpose. That purpose arises, determines the end, to reach which planning is necessary. When the end is reached judgment is passed upon it or appreciation given.

Our projects sometimes fail because we make the mistake of using the pupils as a means. REPUBLICAN IN POLITICS

BLUDGEONING JOHN D.

An up-state exchange facetiously suggests that John D. Rockefeller's gift of $63,000,000 for the welfare of women and children will be followed by another advance in the price of gasoline.

The favorite diversion of the cheap humorist is to take a crack at the first wealthy man that comes to his mind. As for John D., he has given away during his life something like $432,000,000 to charity and welfare enterprises of various kinds, and it ill behooves any of us to question the motive behind gifts of such magnitude and beneficence. It must not be forgotten that if Mr Rockefeller had been so inclined he might have spent this money on private yachts, great estates and riotous living instead of putting it to work for the betterment of all mankind.

The methods of Rockefeller in his manipulation of the Standard Oil properties have been questioned Books have been written to prove how wrong these methods were and certainly many of the practices that once were accepted in the oil trades no longer would be tolerated in any line of trade in this country. But on the other hand, Rockefeller found the oil business disorganized and of small value as a National asset. He has developed it until today it is not only of great business value to the United States, but has become a vital element in our everyday life. Had it not been for Rockefeller and his wonderful organizing ability, gasoline would not now be available for the motorists at every fence corner and motor fuel unquestionably would be higher in price than it is, for every part of the crude oil product is put to use in the Rockefeller factories.

Such wealth as Rockefeller has amassed may never be duplicated, for the peculiar opportunities that were his are not lying around loose today. "Swollen" fortunes have been condemned by every thoughtless newspaper and corner - orator, but they are not without their uses Had Rockefeller not piled up millions, science would have been set back a decade or more for lack of the money which he has poured out for laboratory work with lavish hand, and humanity would have been poorer in many ways.

Before we rave over the evils of our day, we ought to consider that after all there is a God in Heaven who "moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform" and that in the end all things work for good

WHY MAKE THEM SUFFER?

The election of Sen. Harding to the presidency of the United States ought to help impress his ideas as a newspaper publisher on some of his contemporaries here and elsewhere who are now, as they were throughout the campaign, disposed to accept his judgment on public affairs.

One of the admonitions given by Mr Harding to his employees in his newspaper office long before he was candidate for president, was that on printing the news they should not go out of their way to bring into public view the innocent relatives of unfortunates whose names appear in the news as transgressors of the law This is a very good rule. It is regrettable that it is not the rule in more newspaper offices than in the one controlled by President-elect Harding.

Why should the news of a suicide be embellished by the names and addresses of all of his relatives? Why should the unfortunate wife or mother or sister of an embezzler or murderer be interviewed regarding the crime? Why should any of the relatives of any of the unfortunates be paraded in the public print? The innocent relatives of suicides, murderers, embezzlers and law violators of other classes suffer enough when one of their kin goes wrong

If the election of Senator Harding to the presidency has the effect of influencing more newspapers to adopt the rule referred to, it will at least have accomplished some good

LEARNING A BUSINESS

Young men who desired to enter business used to have a decided preference for office work. Their idea of acquiring a trade was to learn how to keep books. Then later if they got a job as manager they were incompetent, because they knew nothing about the production side.

Bright young men of today are not satisfied merely to know the accounting end of business. They want to understand the mechanical and production problems So they ask for chances to go in and work at the bench, and perform as many of the actual processes as possible, since in that way, alone they grasp the problem of efficient operation. If you want to know which of two boys is going ahead, don't pick the one with the clean cuffs

The people who can't afford a dollar for Red Cross membership may be the same ones who expect free hospital service when they get smashed up in an automobile accident

Formerly the young men used to hold debates on the tariff and money questions, but now they are chiefly occupied discussing which is the prettiest girl.

Greco-Roman baths for the Senators at Washington? Well, anyway the bath sponge is better than the whitewash brush.

The trouble with most American towns is that the streets originally laid out for cow traffic don't fit automobiles very well

STRONG MEN SOMETIMES TIRE EASILY

But Refuse to Believe that they Are Tired Out—Run-Down

EVEN ATHLETES NEED TONIC

This Husky Chap Admits it, and Twice a Year Takes Pepto-Mangan. Red Blood Builder

He is tall (almost six feet,) and weighs 185, plays golf, works his own garden, and is stronger than most men He is the picture of health, looks as vigorous as a football player

But he is a bit anemic, gets tired too easily, is inclined to constipation, is more nervous than a normal man should be, and is subject to disfiguring pimples

He told all this himself, and added, "Whenever I have the sense or the memory to take two or three bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan in the late fall and early spring, I am as right as a trivet The trouble is, I forget. If I hired a doctor only to remind me to take Pepto - Mangan twice a year, it would be worth hundreds of dollars to me"

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is an absolutely dependable red-blood builder in all conditions of lowered vitality not due to serious disease of the vita organs It improves the appetite, imparts color to the cheeks and creates new hope and ambition in those who have become pale, weak and listless. Physicians recommend Gude's Pepto-Mangan When you order, be sure the word "Gude's" is on the package Without "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan Furnished in both liquid and tablet form For sale by all druggists. Prominent Knight Of Pythias Says R-11 Is "Ace" Of Remedies

W. H. Smith, of Mingo Junction, Ohio, is so Rejoiced at Being Relieved of Stomach Trouble He Wants All Sufferers to Know About Great Tonic and Body-Builder.

W. H. Smith, prominent in the affairs of the Mingo Junction, Ohio, lodge, Knights of Pythias, says his last hope was his best one, when, after suffering from stomach trouble for four long years, he bought a bottle of The Reese Formula R-11.

"I had very little confidence in R-11," Mr. Smith says, "as I had tried every preparation to be had and was treated by the best physicians in and around Mingo Junction. I want to say right now, however, that before I had taken all of the first bottle of R-11 I was completely relieved."

"For four long years," this leading Pythian continues, "I suffered from gas on my stomach and bloating after every meal. I had severe pains in may back and chest, and around my kidneys. I would see black spots and would get so dizzy oftimes I thought I would fall. Now I do not know the sign of stomach disorder. I have just bought two more bottles of The Reese Formula R-11 and intend to be never without it. It is the "ace" of all medicines and the least I can do is to tell others of its wonderful merits. I know a great many will be as skeptical as I was, but all they need do is try R-11 and they will be as enthusiastic as I am."

There is health and happiness for you in a bottle of The Reese Formula R-11, which can be obtained at The Central Pharmacy and Spence Pharmacy, and at all leading druggists everywhere. 1t be urged to help by the correction of physical defects, by providing proper food and environment. Vocational guidance was also to be emphasized. The third feature of the new educational program must be training for citizenship. Our boys and girls must be helped to find the work in which they will be happy and must also have the incentive and training which will enable them to do their very best work, and to become, active, useful citizens.

As a second evening entertainment, the play "Fine Feathers," was presented to a large and appreciative audience by the Percival Vivian Players who are best known by their former connection with the Ben Greet companies. The music was furnished by the High school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Wahlstrom, whose work is proving so attractive a part of the institute program. The story of the play is that of a young, underpaid chemist, Robert Reynolds, who is tempted to pass an inferior grade of cement for a bridge through the offer of a bribe by John Brand, owner of a cement company. His wife, Jane, forces him against his better judgment to yield to the temptation because of her love for luxury and fine apparel. The resulting entanglement was cleared up by the assistance of the family friend, Dick Meade.

Despite the inclement weather the capacity of the High school auditorium was taxed last evening by an appreciative audience which witnessed the Percival Vivian Players in a three act playlet, entitled "Fine Feathers." The seven members of the cast proved their ability as thespians to the satisfaction of the audience. The play was staged under the personal direction of Percival Vivian, formerly of the Ben Greet Players.

The many firends of Mrs. Edna Fillen, who has been confined to her bed for several weeks on account of illness, will be glad to learn that she is abe to be about the room.

The Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Stephens, on Reed avenue. Arrangements will be made for the bazaar which will be held by the society on December 11. 1t

This office was presented with a narcissus plant this morning by Harry Irwin, the florist. The plant was grown in Mr. Irwin's green house in his yard on Reed avenue. All kinds of flowers and plants are grown here and transplated to the store on Donner avenue. The Independent extends thanks.

Owing to the increased demand for noon hour lunches the Philadelphia Candy Kitchen announces that in the future lunches will be served from 11 o'clock until 2 o'clock, daily except Sunday. During teachers' institute this establishment is proving a popular eating place for the visiting teachers. 1t

Miss Catherine Dudas was hostess at a party last evening at her home on McKee avenue. A number of young folks assembled at her home to help her celebrate her 15th birthday. The evening was spent in games, music and dancing and at a late hour a lunch was served, after which the guests returned to their homes.

Don't forget the bazaar and bake sale to be given by the Ladies Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church in the basement of the First Christian church next Saturday afternoon and evening. All kinds of fancy work, aprons, dolls and doll clothes, baby wearing apparrel, pastry and homemade candies, will be on sale. 47-6t

Fordson

THE Ford Motor Company have just issued a book called "The Fordson at Work". This book is given free. Call in and get one. If you cannot call, write and we will mail you one without charge. It is not what the Ford Motor Company says about the Fordson Tractor but what the army of users have to say. This book voices the hardest kind of practical experience. It shows in illistration the Fordson Tractor at actual work along some ninety different lines of activity. It shows in these illustrations the wonderful versality and utility of the Fordson Tractor. Shows it to be, beyond all questions the one bit of machinery that is a necessity, not only on the farm but along many lines of commercial business; especially does it show up the Fordson as a valuable servant on the farm. With it the farmer is relieved of the hard work; because he can take advantage of the weather in preparing his seed bed; he can do it at the right time; the same is true when it comes to harvesting. It solves, to a great extent, the problem of scarcity of labor.

With its wonderful, reliable power, it brings to the farm home all the conveniences, in the way of runing water in the house, electric lights, operation of the washing machine, churning, separating the cream from the milk; it assures and takes to itself the drudgery of farm life both in the field and in the house and it is only a matter of a few years until it will be as universal in its service on the farm as is the farmer himself. It will become a part of farm life a beneficial part; a profitable part. Get order in for there's a rush coming.

Irish Army Numbers Over 300,000

By RUSSELL BROWNING
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Dublin, Nov. 18.—The volunteer "Irish Republican Army" now numbers over 300,000 officers and men, according to a statement of a Sinn Fein brigadier-general to the United Press. Lack of munitions and artillery prevent this force from actively taking the field in uniformed combat with the British military in Ireland," explained the Sinn Fein leader, "but the volunteers will continue to carry out the openly adopted policy of physical resistance to the English Army of Occupation."

How is this organization maintained in a country where every city and village is heavily garrisoned by "hostile" troops and the country roads bristle with armored cars and military motor lorries? Where do the Sinn Feinners drill? Where do they get their guns and ammunition, and how is liason effected between widely separated units?

It will betray no secrets to answer these questions in a general way, for the facts are no doubt known to the British Army Intelligence. In fact, Sir Hamar Greenwood announced in the House of Commons recently that the entire plans and the names of the leaders were known to the Irish Office.

The Sinn Fein army is unique in that its members actually pay to belong to it instead of receiving any monetary compensation for their services. A sum of sixpence weekly is paid by each man, officer, and soldier alike. No favoritism is shown in the selection of officers, and it is said that there is no single incident of a volunteer refusing to carry out the orders of his superior.

Decentralized authority for local raids and minor offensives by company commanders under the general orders for action of the brigade commander is in effect in all districts, with the exception of the larger cities, where the higher leaders direct all activities. In the recent conflicts in county Kerry immediately following the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, a general offensive was ordered, in retaliation, so a Sinn Fein leader told the United Press, for a suddenly intensified activity on the part of the police and military. Eighteen soldiers and policemen were killed in the resultant fighting, and about twenty-five wounded.

Altho medical examination is not generally required of recruits for the Sinn Fein forces, a fairly high physical standard is maintained. Volunteers who are judged to be unfit for active service are utilized in the finely developed intelligence department, or consigned to duty on the civil detective and police force, although full-fledged members are also used in this work.

Each company is intrusted with the task of securing their own arms and in most cases funds with which to carry out their various missions. Sinn Fein has large funds, and in the words of a prominent business man of Cork, "can get more where that comes from"—namely, popular subscription to the recent "Irish Republican Loan" and funds raised by various Irish societies, but a big expense is entailed in caring for the families of men in jail or who are fleeing from the British authorities.

When a company of Sinn Fein volunteers is seen directing a crowd or functioning in any way an observer is struck with their discipline and familiarity with drill manual. The exact drilling places are closely guarded, but it is still difficult to understand how they are able to receive training of this kind at all in a land that is said to be flooded with British "spies". Requested information on the subject of a high Sinn Fein leader. Accordingly a promise was made to show how it was accomplished, but for obvious reasons no engagement was set and the manner in which I would be shown was left in the dark.

I was stopping at the Hotel Imperial, Cork, when the following afternoon my talk with the Sinn Feiner I was approached by a young man in the hotel lobby who announced himself as a "Volunteer officer." A number of men known to have been British secret service agents were present in the lobby at the time and he glanced around towards them rather anxiously

That's alright, come along with me", said the young man and without more ado strolled out the hotel to a waiting car. A short ride and the car stopped in front of a small shop.. We got out and entered the shop. The volunteer lead the way out a back door into the rear entrance of another building, thence to the opposite street, where a donkey cart was waiting. It was now about dusk and we jogged off to a plain looking house on the outskirts of the town. On entering the house, we passed a woman in the hallway and a few wards in Gaelic were spoken. Climbing the stairs we came to a door which opened into a fair sized unfurnished. Eigth young men, several of them mere boys, were inside. They were in stocking-feet and were going through squad drill under the tuleiage of a youngster who evidently knew what he was about. Drill practice on a larger scale than this is carried out in the country districts, in secluded fields, after nightfall.

The system of communications used by Sinn Feiners is not officially known, but it is known that they are surprisingly well posted on nearly all events effecting them and sometimes the news of an attack on military or police or the burning of an Irish village by Black and Tan police in a distant and isolated section of the country is known to the Sinn Fein leaders before it has come over the telegraph wires to the British authorities. When it is remembered that 87 per cent of the people of South and West Ireland are Sinn Fein in sympatey, as evidenced by the last general election, and that many of the telegraphers belong to the party, it is easily seen how this can happen.

3-Egg Angel Cake and Mocha Layer

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

AN Angel cake so good that it fairly melts in your mouth. Instead of eight eggs, it can be made with three and the yolks of the eggs can be used for a Royal Sunshine cake.

Here, too, is a Mocha Layer cake which you will want to try, and clip for future use.

Angel Cake

1 cup sugar
1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup scalded milk
1 teaspoon almond or vanilla extract
whites of 3 eggs

Mix and sift first five ingredients four times. Add milk very slowly, while still hot, beating continually; add vanilla; mix well and fold in whites of eggs beaten until light. Turn into ungreased angel cake tin and bake in very slow oven about 45 minutes. Remove from oven; invert pan and allow to stand until cold. Cover top and sides with either white or chocolate icing.

Mocha Layer Cake

½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup strong coffee
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons mixed spices

Cream shortening and sugar until light; add well beaten yolks of eggs; add coffee slowly; add half of flour sifted with baking powder, salt and spices; mix and add well beaten whites of eggs; add remainder of flour and mix lightly. Pour into two greased layer cake tins and bake in moderate oven. Spread sweetened whipped cream between layers and cover top with —

Mocha Icing

1 tablespoon butter
1 cup confectioner's sugar
1 tablespoon cocoa
2 tablespoons strong coffee
¼ teaspoon salt

Cream butter and sugar; add cocoa, coffee and salt and stir until smooth. If too dry, add coffee; if too moist, add sugar.

MOTHER EARTH CHOSE WELL

Old Lady's Decision on Green for a Coloring Much More Than Accidental.

Why did Mother Earth choose a dress in green? The earth was not always green. Scientists say that once it was as naked as the moon; but there came a day when the weather grew cool enough to demand clothing, and at that time, no doubt, this maternal planet began to look about to choose a color scheme for her dress. Why she chose green is not on record, but that she chose it with her whole heart every pleasant place of creation testifies.

Scientists explain that this is merely a natural phenomenon, the color being chlorophyl pigment, turned green by action of the sun. But why it did not turn blue or red or black, no scientist knows. About all they can say is that Mother Earth wanted a green dress, and she got it.

Green is a restful color. Oculists say that of all colors green is the most friendly to the optic nerve. In lands where eternal snows or eternal white sands flash up their glaring reflections, men have to shade their eyes or go blind. But green never bothers the eye. One can stare a forest in the face all day with impunity. Nature's greens never get on your nerves, and they never quarreled with any other of nature's colors and tints.

The professional hiker of paints knows that fierce color discord can easily be created by a misplacing of green. But nature never misplaces it. Even blue stands without tying, cheek by cheek with nature's greens. Larkspurs and lobelias go quietly arm in arm with their respective foliage. A rose of any tint or color is best set off by a green rose leaf. Every spring or fall color, pale or florid, will shade pleasantly into green on the very same leaf.

Imagine the grass of the field and the leaves of the forest created blue, or magenta, or scarlet, instead of green! Some speculative scientists think the foliage of the planet Mars is red, and that the people there are seeing red continually.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Printing Telegraph.

During the five year period 1912-1917 the printing telegraph came into extended use by telegraph companies, press associations and railroads. The printing telegraph consists essentially of a sending instrument equipped with a keyboard similar to that of a typewriter, electrically connected with a receiving instrument in such a manner that the latter automatically reproduces what is typewritten on the sending instrument. Without the printing telegraph it would have been difficult or impossible to handle the increased telegraph business during the great war.

Single Men Win

The married men and single men of Monessen Council, K. of C. had it out on the council alleys last night and the singles came out on the long end with 2 out of 3 games. Lhota had high score for tied ups with 164 and P. Hanlon for the loose men with 137. That's Lhota for you; he can still show his heels to the single men, even if he has a family and insurance business to look after, and says the loose fellows will never know what it is to be happy until they hear the sweet words of some one say, "Pop, I want a new pair of shoes."

Executive in Session

(By United Press)

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 1—Governors and governors-elect from 30 states are here to confer on matters of mutual concern to their respective states.

During the course of the day's proceedings ten governors and at least six more of the 27 governors-elect will arrive to take part in the deliberations.

Governor Calvin Coolige, of Massachusetts, will reach the city this afternoon, it was announced. The governor and Mrs. Coolidge are to be the guests of Gov. Sproul during the conference. They will stop at the executive mansion. A reception for the vice-president-elect will be held there tonight.

Up until a late hour last night and early today a steady gubernatorial procession continued to arrive here. The governors are accompanied by their wives, secretaries, and personal representatives.

Gov. Edwards, of New Jersey, wired last night that he and his secretary would attend the conference arriving some time this morning.

One of the first to reach the city was Gov.-elect Davis, of Ohio. The other governors-elect here today are Morgan, West Virginia; Hartness, Vermont; Denny, Delaware; Maybe Utah, and Preus, Minnesota.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York notified Secretary Riley yesterday that he would be unable to attend but has decided to send Edward F. Boyle and Abraham Kaplan, of the reconstruction commission in New York state, as his representatives. Gov. Smith was to have discussed the housing situation.

Questions to be considered at the session today relate to agriculture as a national problem, responsibilities of the state in industrial matters, uniformity of state laws and decentralization of federal authority.

At the morning session Governors Parker, Louisiana, and Allen, Kansas, spoke, following the opening remarks of Governor Sproul and the response by Gov. Campbell, Arizona.
